IN FOCUS: Strengthening Risk Communication for One Health in Nigeria

The concept of One-Health (OH) has gained momentum in the past few years, especially since the onset of the COVID-19 pandemic. This is premised on the understanding that emerging and re-emerging zoonotic diseases can result in a pandemic, high human mortality rates, and cause significant economic and social damage as seen with the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic. Undoubtedly, the increased burden of zoonotic diseases stems from the complex integration of humans with animals in the environment against a backdrop of rapid urbanisation.

In 2019, the Nigeria Centre for Disease Control and Prevention (NCDC) in collaboration with the Federal Ministry of Health (FMOH), Federal Ministry of Agriculture and Rural Development (FMARD), Federal Ministry of Environment (FMOE), other relevant ministries, departments, and agencies as well as stakeholders launched a 5-year strategic and yearly implementation plans for OH in Nigeria. This strategic plan reflects the shared commitment to addressing human-animal ecosystem public health challenges toward building a nation of healthy people and healthy animals living in a balanced ecosystem. Importantly, it provides a framework for addressing gaps identified in the Joint External Evaluation (JEE) of the International Health Regulation (IHR) to which Nigeria is a signatory.

Goal 3 of the Nigeria One Health Strategic Plan (2019-2023) aims to ensure increased awareness of all stakeholders. In line with this, a OH Risk Communication (OHRC) Manual is being developed by the FMOH (through NCDC), FMARD, FMOE, media professionals, and other critical stakeholders with support from Breakthrough ACTION, Nigeria. This training manual when finalised is expected to strengthen the capacity of government spokespersons, public health officials, and media professionals/journalists in the application of best practices for risk communication and collaboration to raise awareness of risks and the prevention of zoonotic diseases.

Nigeria with critical support from partners is making significant strides in implementing OH particularly through institutionalisation of OH within the structures of government. We encourage continued political and financial commitment at all levels of government for the prevention and control of zoonotic diseases in Nigeria.
